HarvestMark® PTI Automated Line Packing

PTI compliance without slowing down your line

With over 400 customers deployed on more than 4,500 farms throughout the world, we're the most proven provider of traceability.

HarvestMark PTI for automated line packing allows you to get PTI compliant without interrupting your operation or reconfiguring your line. Our system exceeds speed requirements for the highest volume lines with unmatched accuracy and reliability. In head-to-head tests, the world's largest packing operations chose HarvestMark.

We can show you how to streamline your PTI integration saving time and money.

HarvestMark

PTI compliance without sacrificing line speed or modifying your operations

Powered by cutting-edge machine vision, our system recognizes boxes and box markings on side, top or front panels without slowing down the packing line. The correct PTI label is applied to each carton using these images.

Our solution is tailored to run as fast as your line operates and includes remote troubleshooting and support.

Over 400 growers and shippers rely on HarvestMark for their traceability needs. Our solutions are in production daily at the world's most demanding fresh fruit operations, including Sun Pacific and Calavo.

“We evaluated several vendors and chose HarvestMark because of their significant experience in traceability and their reputation for reliability. Their PTI solution integrated seamlessly with our existing operation and offered us accurate and cost-effective PTI compliance.”

- Al Bates, Sun Pacific

Unparalleled accuracy in application and reporting

Our software is able to recognize subtle differences in box design and artwork without stopping the carton.

Our unique vision system delivers sharper images for more accurate and faster processing.

Each system uploads production data to the HarvestMark Platform giving you sophisticated, on-demand analytics.

The best value with no hidden fees

The lowest total cost of ownership. HarvestMark's solution doesn't require complex or time-consuming set up, a special conveyor change, or expensive integration.

Our pricing structure is simple and upfront, support is included.
